Athens V Sparta

Athens and Sparta were probably the two most famous and powerful city states in Ancient Greece.

However, they were both very different.

Athens v Sparta

- Athens' Government ruled as a democracy. They were the 1st to ever do this.
- Sparta's Government ruled as an oligarchy by 2 Kings.
- Both Athens' and Sparta's governments were elected by the people.

Athens v Sparta

 Athens is built below the acropolis which stands on a hill above all of Athens.

 Sparta is surrounded by mountains, which makes it difficult for it to be invaded.

ATHENS

- Athens was a very creative city state.
- They believed in a good education. (for boys)
- You could go into the army or navy if you wanted to. (if you were a boy)

SPARTA

- Sparta was very focused on obedience and war and the people did not have any luxuries.
- Boys did not have to work or be educated but trained to be warriors from a young age.
- Boys had to join the Spartan army.

ATHENS

- Girls were not regarded as important by the Athenians.
- Girls could be taught at home. (if they had rich parents)
- Girls were not allowed to take part in anything to do with war, business or education.

SPARTA

- Girls in Sparta were to grow up to be the mothers of warriors.
- Although they were not allowed to fight, girls took part in all the training because fit ladies produced fit babies, who would fight!

Athens v Sparta

- Athens and Sparta had very different ways of living their lives.
- Athens wanted to control as much land as possible and this led to much war between Greek lands.
- Sparta, although more powerful kept itself to itself unless their army was needed.

However when it came to Athens and Sparta against each other... Sparta won!

But, they did not take over Athens they said they would not burn it as long as Athens promised not to keep trying to take over.

Athens was therefore left as it was and even now is one of the most famous cities in the world.
