William Morris

William Morris:

‘Have nothing in your house that you do not know to be useful, or believe to be beautiful.’

Aim

- To understand who William Morris was.
- To recognise examples of William Morris patterns.

Who Was William Morris?

William Morris was born on 24th March, 1834.

He was the son of a wealthy business man.

He originally was going to become a priest but decided to devote his life to art instead.

He became a poet, artist and manufacturer.

He had lots of friends who were writers, poets and artists.

His career in designing started when he decorated his own house in London.

William Morris – The Style

- William Morris is very famous for his wallpaper designs. He created some beautiful designs, the likes of which had never been used before. In fact, wallpaper before his day was quite plain.
- The Victorian era was the era of industrialisation; factories were being built in the cities in Britain, especially London. People flocked to the cities to work in these factories or run them, and the cities grew bigger and bigger. As a result, people led more urban lifestyles and grew to miss the countryside. Wealthier people did have gardens, but still, it was desirable to feel closer to nature.
- William Morris, who was also an environmental campaigner, created designs of floral patterns (patterns inspired by flowers and plants) which were repeated many times by printing machines.

William Morris – The Technique

- What William Morris did was to make designs of floral patterns (patterns inspired by flowers and plants) that could be repeated many times by printing machines on large pieces of paper to make patterned wallpaper.
- This again was possible due to advances in technology to make the printing machines and also the synthetic (artificial) coloured inks to print with.
