

This week as part of SMSC, we would like you to identify the positive parts of other people's personalities. We would like you to choose 5 people in your life and write 3 adjectives each to describe them. You might want to choose people in your family, a friend, a teacher or even a pet! Below, is a table that has lots of different positive adjectives that you might want to use to help you. If there are any words that you aren't sure of the meaning of, you could find the definition online or in a dictionary. If you can think of other adjectives that aren't in the table, you are more than welcome to use those too! We have also included an example so you can see what the work should look like.
