Dartmoor Zoo, in Devon, England, launched an appeal to raise money after it had to close last month because of coronavirus. When animal lover Josh White heard, he pledged to climb his stairs 3,400 times, which he says is the equivalent of scaling Mount Everest. The 11-year-old has raised nearly £20,000.

Eight-year-old Elise Parkes and her father spent two days building a Lego model of King's Mill Hospital, in Nottinghamshire, England. They added figures of doctors, nurses and patients. Parkes was asked by a teacher at her school, Dalestorth Primary School, in Skegby, to make a model of a local building she most admires.
