

This week we are going to have another look at irregular past tense verbs. This means the verb in the past tense will not have the usual –ed ending. You just have to learn them!

Eg. sing > sang begin > began think > thought

How to Play

Read the phrase that says 'Just now, I am $____$ ', and change it to 'Yesterday, I $____$ ' to make it past tense.

For example, 'Just now I am sinking', would become 'Yesterday, I sank.'

Say the 'Yesterday, I...' phrase out loud, then click on the box once to check your answer. If you get it correct, click it again to reveal a part of the picture!

The more you get correct, the more of the picture you will see!

Then have a go at the activity and finally practice your spellings on Spelling Shed!
