A red, white and blue paint job on the Prime Minister's plane has recently been revealed. The RAF Voyager is used by the Prime Minister and members of the Royal Family for official visits around the world and was previously coloured grey. An official spokesperson for the government confirmed that the plane received its makeover in Cambridgeshire in the colours of the Union Jack at the cost of £900,000, taken from public funds.

Listen, Think, Share

• Watch this week's useful video which shows the RAF Voyager plane landing, what do we think about how the plane looks? If you had to describe it to someone else, what words would you use?

• Can you think of a time when we are required to behave or dress in a certain way to make a good impression on someone? Was it the right thing to do? Why?

• Have we ever heard the phrase ‘don’t judge a book by it’s cover’? Talk about what we think this means? Do we agree?

Resource 2

Look at the resource below, which shows examples of people representing others.

Have you ever been asked to represent someone or something? Have you represented your school, team or club?

These ladies are representing their local football team. They all wear matching jumpers with the team logo before and after they have played their match.

Your local MP (Member of Parliament) is elected to represent all of the people in your area in the House of Commons.

It is part of a lawyer's job to represent their client in court.

Your parents or carers sometimes represent you! They may have to give their permission for you to take part in activities, fill in forms at the dentists or doctors on you behalf and may discuss how you are feeling or share your opinions with other adults for you.
