Me

Wow this is very impressive (By me of course)!

The Stone Age started approximately 2.6 Million years ago. The Stone Age was in prehistoric times, which means before history was recorded. Archaeologists use ancient artefacts to figure out more about the Stone Age. The Stone Age was three massive chunks of time and they were called the Paleolithic, Mesolithic and the Neolithic. The Stone Age happened in well... the whole world I think!

What did they eat?

In the Palaeolithic era they hunted down (tracked) animals in the woods like Deer, Woolly Mammoths, Giant bison and Sabre Tooth Tigers. Also Stone Age people went down to river to fish for fish with spears. Also, the Women picked nuts and berries. That explains why they were called Hunter-gatherers! I actually don't know what they ate in the Mesolithic so let's skip to the Neolithic. So in the Neolithic they actually developed farming so they didn't, one have to hunt, two, they also stopped risking their lives and three, not having to move houses.

Ooooooooooh! First paragraph!

Where did they live?

Palaeolithic cave.

Ooooooooooh
.....

In the Palaeolithic era, they lived in Caves. That also explains why they were called cave-people! I lived in caves because they tracked down animals so they could not stay in one cave (one cave was not their permanent home). In the Mesolithic, Stone Age people lived in tapees which was an upgrade from caves because it was kinda hut-like! I don't really have much to say about the Mesolithic so I'm skipping to Neolithic. So in the Neolithic era, Stone Age people lived in very hut-like houses! Also, they were made out of wattle and daub (animal dung, water, hay and mud). They had farms as well so it was a great match!
