The 'ch' digraph can also make the /ch/ like in chair and /k/ like in 'chemist.

List words under the THRASS boxes that have the 'ch' digraph making the different sounds.

There is an example for each one.

chip

chemist

The monarch was sitting in his chalet waiting for the chef to finish dinner. His stomach was rumbling. While he waited, the monarch read the brochure full of shiny new technology and machines. Suddenly the young prince burst through the ceiling wearing a parachute. It was chaos. The monarch's favourite chandelier was broken. The prince was sent back to school.

In the text only underline the words where the 'ch' makes the /sh/ sound.
