

Wednesday Weekly

Boisterous Brothers Strike Again!

Frank and Jesse James seen stealing the jewel again!

Late last night, it was reported that Frank and Jesse James had been caught trying to steal a precious jewel from the train! The boisterous brothers had not been seen for several weeks but it is thought they are up to their old tricks again!

Last night, witnesses saw Frank and Jesse James break into a train carrying a precious and important jewel. They were heard entering the carriage noisily at around 8pm and are thought to have spotted the jewel before grabbing it and trying to escape! A passenger from the train exclaimed, "I was petrified! They pushed past me, and I nearly fell over!"

Another passenger replied, "I knew it was Frank and Jesse, they were chasing each other around both fighting over the jewel!"

Frank and Jesse were last seen falling off the train in their bid to claim the jewel for themselves and are thought to have been taken to hospital for their injuries.

We all hope that is the last that we see of the James brothers and as the train driver rightfully expressed, "Let's hope they have learnt their lesson this time!"