In my wizard school there will be ghosts there but the wizards won't be scared because they're friendly and there will be a potion class. There will also be a teleportation hall when you want to go somewhere quickly but mostly only used in emergencies. There will also be a library full of lots of spell books and there will be main groups like in Harry Potter but they will be called different names and instead of a sorting hat there will be a sorting cauldron. There will be broomstick practice and there will quidditch.

And of course elegant teachers who are a big inspiration to the students and you can own a pet you are allowed to have a cat, snow owl or a rat. Also there'll be a mirror who can tell the future in each of the main groups bedrooms.

Evie

A class where you learn to teleport to different places. And also there could be a swimming pool with the deepness of a giraffes hight. A massive book library with every single book you can imagine that talk by there selves
