

Diagram of the Heart

Note: You may be confused by the left and right being apparently the wrong way round – this picture is of a heart as though it was in somebody facing you (imagine that I am facing you and it is my heart) so then the right ventricle/atrium would be on the right side of my body.

Cross-section of the Heart

The arrows show how the blood is pumped through the heart.

Double or Figure of Eight Circulation

